Alex is a corporate lawyer with more than 15 years' experience in corporate law, specialising in private equity and venture capital transactions. Alex advises clients on private mergers and acquisitions, capital raising and investments, management incentive arrangements, joint ventures, strategic contracts, corporate restructuring and general commercial law. Alex has a deep understanding of his clients' risk profiles, commercial drivers, challenges and opportunities.

Alex joined Clarendon Lawyers as director in August 2016.

Before joining Clarendon Lawyers, Alex was a senior associate in the private equity team at Herbert Smith Freehills in Melbourne. Alex joined Herbert Smith Freehills in 2007, having trained and worked as a lawyer in London from 2003-2007 and was admitted to practice in Victoria in 2009.

Alex has undertaken client secondments, to better understand the needs and drivers of commercial organisations. Alex completed secondments at Capella Capital (corporate support in respect of the East West Link wind up), Target Australia (general legal advisory support) and Cadbury Australia (various matters including its integration with Kraft Foods now Mondelez).
